Communicate with Confidence

With speaker: Jeff Koziatek, Peak Performance Coach and CEO of Core Authenticity

Communication is how we get off the ground with any type of collaboration or team project, large or small. A critical component to performance and success, communication is a component often taken for granted. We are not born effective communicators! How DO we avoid and overcome communication missteps?

You've learned about different personalities and the ways people feel seen and appreciated. You've also discovered that sometimes you don't know styles or types, and conversations can sometimes veer "off script." What do you do? How do you maintain your confidence?

Discover how to deploy proven, universal, communication principles that can enhance what you already know, and improve the speed and effectiveness of your communication.

Jeff Koziatek built a decades long career on his ability to communicate effectively and efficiently, regardless of who was in the audience or signing the contract. Learn the communication secrets he discovered so that you will be able to: lead more confidently, collaborate more efficiently, and serve more effectively.
